Formal Statement:
Beware of Fake Invoices and Payment Requests
Purporting to Be from Steve Leung Design Group Limited

Steve Leung Design Group Limited (the "Company" and, together with its subsidiaries, the "Group") has recently become aware that unauthorised parties are suspected of using the Group's name to send fake invoices and payment requests to third parties via instant messaging apps, requesting recipients to make payments on behalf of the senders.

Following an internal review, the Group confirms that it was not involved in the transactions referenced in the invoices and did not issue them. The accounts designated for payment do not belong to the Group. The invoices, payment arrangements, and related messages are unrelated to the Group.

The Group has reported the matter to the police and will cooperate fully with any related investigation. The Group reserves all rights to take legal action and hold those responsible accountable for any unauthorised use of the Group's name or any conduct that harms the Group's interests or reputation.

To protect your interests, the Group urges clients, business partners, and members of the public to take the following precautions:

- If you receive an invoice, bill, payment notice, or payment instruction purporting to be from the Group, particularly through an instant messaging app, social media platform, or other unofficial channel, verify its authenticity using the contact details listed on the Group's official website or by contacting a known, authorised representative of the Group.
- Until a payment request has been verified through an official channel, do not transfer funds to any suspicious or unfamiliar account or make payments of unknown origin on behalf of others in response to a request from an unverified source.
- Do not click on suspicious links, download suspicious attachments, or disclose personal information, bank account details, credit card details, or one-time passwords.
- If you receive an invoice, message, or payment request that you suspect falsely claims to be from the Group, contact the Group immediately at +852 2527 1600 or sld@steveleung.com to verify its authenticity, and consider reporting the matter to the police.

The Group thanks its clients, business partners, and members of the public for their continued support and trust, and will continue to monitor the situation closely.
